

CHESTER JORDAN PAYS PENALTY

Goes To the Electric Chair Early
This Morning for the Murder of His Wife

Portsmouth, Sept. 24.—Chester S. Jordan, sentenced to death for the murder of his wife, Honora, whose body he cut up and packed in a trunk, was executed in the electric chair at the Charles-town state prison this morning at 12:14:30 o'clock.

Jordan went to his death calmly and met it without having made any statement. He was seated in the electric chair and had received the first contact of the fatal current within a minute and eight seconds of the time he entered the death chamber. The current was turned on at 12:09:13. Jordan was officially pronounced dead at 12:14:30. Nineteen hundred volts of electricity were used and the amperage was from 9.1-2 to 10.1-2. After Jordan had been declared dead, G. Leonard McNeil, his spiritual adviser, folded his arms and laid across them a bunch of asters. The flowers were a birthday present to Jordan from his mother, last Thursday. The body will be given over, tomorrow to the family of the dead man and will be buried at Crown Hill cemetery, Indianapolis, Ind., his old home.

The official witness of the electrocution were: Dr. C. C. Foster, surgeon-general; Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, prison physician; Dr. George B. McGrath, medical examiner of Suffolk county; G. Leonard McNeil, spiritual adviser to Jordan; Sheriff John R. Fairbanks of Middlesex county; the Rev. H. W. Stebbins, prison chaplain, and John H. Coyne. Jordan passed a quiet day, Monday, in the forenoon he bade farewell to his relatives. These included his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Jordan of Somerville; his sisters, Mrs. Fred C. Kendall and Mrs. Jesse L. Livermore and Mrs. Kendall's husband, C. A. Aldrich of Somerville who was to have been a witness, did not appear.

A suspicious cabman was responsible for the discovery of the murder of Mrs. Chester Jordan for which Jordan was executed this morning. The murder was committed at their apartments in Somerville on Sept. 1, 1908. During a quarrel with his wife, who was an actress, Jordan struck her and knocked her down a stairway. The next day he dismembered the body placed the head and some other parts in a stove in an unsuccessful attempt to burn them, and packed the remainder of the body in a trunk.

Jordan's attempt to dispose of the trunk to the South station, where he later called for it in a cab and was driven to the dock of a New York steamship line. Jordan explained later that he intended to board the New York boat and drop the body overboard while at sea. But the boat had left before Jordan's arrival and he was disconcerted.

His confusion aroused the suspicion of the cabman, which were not

DROWNED WOMAN IS IDENTIFIED

As Mrs. Richard F. Sears of Brooklyn, Who Was Stopping at Kittery

Had Been in Poor Health and It Is Believed She Committed Suicide by Jumping Off the Badger's Island Bridge.

The body of the woman found floating in the Piscataqua river on Monday morning near Fort Constitution, New Castle, was identified late that afternoon as Mrs. Richard F. Sears of Brooklyn, N. Y., who had been passing the summer at Kittery with a relative, Mrs. Alfred Hayes.

The body was discovered about 8:30 o'clock and after being taken out of the water Medical Referee Willis D. Walker was notified and he ordered the body brought to Ham's undertaking room in this city for an examination. The woman was about 5 feet, 2 inches tall, about 30 to 35 years old, had a wealth of dark brown hair and weighed 115 to 120 pounds. She had one gold tooth while several of her teeth were gold filled. Her nose was quite prominent. On her forehead there were several scratches and her nose was somewhat swollen, evidently having come in contact with the rocks while in the water.

She was attired in a black diagonal striped woolen skirt with coat to match. She wore a green and white shirt waist, black jersey petticoat, black stockings, and black high boots. There were no marks in the boots to show where they were purchased. The only articles found in the pockets of her dress was a white linen handkerchief, but this was without any initial.

On the third finger of the left hand was a plain gold wedding ring marked on the inside, R F S to L H H, December 9, 1899. Other than the ring there was nothing on her person to establish identification.

Medical Referee Walker stated that in his opinion death was due to drowning and that the body had only been in the water a few hours when found.

The body was viewed by a number of persons during the afternoon, among the number being George Woodward, purser on the steamer Alice Howard, who stated that this woman went over to Kittery from this city on the 8 o'clock boat Sunday evening.

It was also learned that a woman's hat and hand bag, the latter containing a purse with a small sum of money, a photograph and a few other trinkets.

These were turned over to the local police and Deputy Marshal Hurley and Deputy Sheriff Shaw started to establish the identity of the woman. The description of the woman as published in The Herald, however, came to the attention of the woman's relatives and her identity was soon established.

Mrs. Sears has been in poor health for two years, suffering from paresis, but her condition was not considered serious and her suicidal act is very keenly felt by her relatives and friends.

It is presumed that after leaving the boat on Sunday night that she walked to the bridge and jumped into the river. That she should die from drowning and be found floating in the river the following morning is, however, somewhat mysterious to many. She leaves a husband.

Plans Progressing in Proper
Legal Way—Contracts
Ready for Signatures

Mayor Badger is reported in a local paper as being at fever heat over the "abrupt stand taken by Mr. Belden and the Boston & Maine." It says the mayor is all at sea, etc. This silly muddle which purports to be an interview, is a joke and wholly untrue and is much regretted by the committee as it puts both Mr. Belden and the Boston & Maine R. R. in an unfavorable light. The citizen's committee has completed its work in connection with the road and there are no differences between the parties in charge of the transfer.

President Belden of the Southern N. H. Railways has called a meeting of his company, giving the required notice in order to make a legal transfer of the charter. This is necessary in order that the B. & M. R. R. can apply for a new permit from the public service commission. The Boston & Maine and the local directors of the Citizen's Material Co. have agreed upon a lease.

There has been the usual delay with all such matters. It is unjust to attack either Mr. Belden or the Boston & Maine. Both Mr. Belden and Mr. Byrnes of the Boston & Maine have been very generous to the committee and it is appreciated by the men who have raised the cash to buy the road and to those responsible for the negotiations.

The papers as changed by the local directors have been agreed upon by both parties, and as soon as the transfer of the property has been made the work of rebuilding the line will be started. The Boston & Maine has been ready to build as soon as the road can be turned over.

ASKS $10,000 FOR LOSS OF FOUR FINGERS

The case of Joseph Papler of Portland, against George A. Proctor of York Beach was begun in the United States district court at Portland Saturday forenoon an action to recover in the sum of $10,000 for damages sustained by the plaintiff while working at a saw in a portable mill being operated by the defendant.

Plaintiff lost his fingers from his right hand as a result of the accident and claims that he used due care but had not been properly instructed as to the dangerous nature of his work. Mr. Proctor was the contractor engaged in constructing water works and Mr. Norton was his foreman in clearing land of trees.

Papler has been furnished as a laborer by Thomas W. Marshall of South Portland. The two were the only witnesses who testified Saturday and the case was continued until this week.

Officers will be reached by notifications which will be made in the daily slot report whether disability results from activity in line of duty or otherwise. These entries are to be made by company commanders and surgeons. When the findings of those officers are in accord and receive the approval of the commanding officer they are to be final.

MISS ST. DENNIS IS HELD IN $4000

Girl is Charged With Having Attempted to Kill Mr. and Mrs. Jordan.

LOWELL, Sept. 23.—Miss Gladys O. St. Dennis, also known as Gladys O. Newell, 16 years old, was charged in two counts this morning, in a private session of the Police Court, with attempting to murder Mrs. Bertha M. and Fred M. Jordan by placing poison in their coffee.

On account of the youth of the accused Judge Enright decided not to have her plead. He ordered her held in $4000 to next Friday, when a session of the court for juvenile offenders will be held.

Mrs. Jordan was in court. Yesterday and this morning she supplied food to Miss St. Dennis, and this morning in addition to the young woman's breakfast, Mrs. Jordan brought her a handsome bouquet of flowers.

This morning Miss St. Dennis said that Mrs. Jordan scolded her, but never slapped her. Mrs. Jordan, a neighbor of the Jordans, said this morning to Supt. Welch of the Police Department that the Jordans had always been kind to the girl.

After the session of court today Miss St. Dennis went to the detention room in the Police Station. She will be taken to Lowell Jail, where she may be examined to learn if she is mentally responsible.

Believes This Will "Cure Lung Troubles"

Consumption is a flattering disease—that is one of its chief dangers. Those who have it are rarely willing to acknowledge the fact. If this trouble is present it is no time for trifling. If a so-called "cold" has long persisted; if a cough is present that keeps you anxious, or any of the symptoms are present such as fever or night sweats, weakness and loss of appetite and perhaps some raising of mucus—do the sensible thing—take Eckman's Alternative—as Mr. Battersworth did.

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4.
"Gentlemen: I wish to say for your Alternative that I believe it to be a medicine of unequalled value for all bronchial and lung trouble. The spring of 1908, I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. I had night sweats and would cough and spit until I go so weak I could hardly do anything. But, at last, as Deering, of Glasgow Junction, assisted that I try your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles, I felt as well as ever in my life."

"I desire he world to know that I truly believe that your Eckman's Alternative will cure any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage will gladly write personally to any party wanting information in regard to your wonderful medicine." (Signed) A. C. BATTERSWORTH played when Jordan asked to be taken to a room in the West End where he took the trunk. The cabman reported to the police that he delivered his passenger had stolen the trunk and they went to investigate.

While the police were opening the trunk Jordan attempted to jump from the window of his room. When questioned he startled the officers by declaring that the body of his wife, whom he had killed during a quarrel ten days before, was in the trunk.

Jordan was a native of Indianapolis and early became interested in amateur theatricals. Later he developed a sketch for the vaudeville stage and in this work he met Honora Kelly, a native of England, but of Irish extraction who was known on the vaudeville stage as Irene Shannon. They were married in 1904 when Jordan was 24 and his wife 26 years of age. The two combined their theatrical talents and went on the road. They toured the west as far as Montana and returning to Chicago, reached a year. In the summer of 1906 he Jordan came to Somerville and began housekeeping.

About this time Jesse L. Livermore who had married Jordan's sister, was successful in the New York cotton market. As a result Mrs. Livermore was enabled to start her brother in business and advanced him money with which he opened a stationery store. The married life of the Jordans was soon broken by quarrels, which eventually led to the murder.

Jordan was brought to trial on April 20, 1909, and found guilty of murder in the first degree, May 4. Four days later one of the jury became insane and was committed to an asylum. Upon this fact was based an appeal to the supreme court, questioning the constitutionality of the law, and asking for a new trial. The law was declared constitutional and Jordan was sentenced Jan. 5, 1911, to die during the week of March 12 of that year. A writ of error being granted, an appeal from the decision of the state court was taken to the United States supreme court. The appeal was denied on May 27, 1912, and nearly four years after the commission of the crime Jordan was sentenced a second time to die, the date being fixed as the week of Sept. 22, 1912.

About the Camel.
Following is what Count Gleichen says of a camel: "A camel's hind legs will reach anywhere—over his head, round his chest, and on to his hump; even when lying down an evil disposed animal will shoot out his hind legs and bring you to a sitting posture. His neck is of the same pliancy. He will chew the root of his tail, nip you in the calf or lay the top of his head on his hump. He also bellows and mows at you whatever you are doing—saddling him, feeding him, mounting him, unsaddling him. To the uninitiated a camel going for one with his mouth open and gurgling horribly is a terrifying spectacle; but do not mind him. It is only his way. I heard of one of two men having been kicked at various times, but it is the exception, not the rule, for the camel is really a very docile animal, and learns to behave himself in the most trying position with equanimity, though I fear it is only the result of want of brains."

FRETT BATHER IS DARING

Policeman Pursues "Heliopole Girl" in Rowboat and She Disappears.

Chicago.—A pretty bather attired in a heliopole silk bathing suit and knickerbockers, shocked the guests at the Chicago Beach hotel, when the young woman took a plunge into the water.

There were others who were shocked besides the hundreds of men and women who noticed the woman saunter toward the pier, just before she took a dive into the surf.

The person who was most surprised was William Denney, manager and detective of the beach. He prides himself on the way that the beach has been conducted since he took charge, and when his attention was called to the "heliopole girl" the policeman's esthetic tastes were crushed.

"This will never do, you are violating every code in the city ordinance covering bathing beaches," said Denney, as he ran over to the pier, where the "heliopole girl" was majestically swimming beyond the life lines.

"Hey, come ashore," shouted the policeman, but the fair bather swam further out into the lake. "She can't swim around here," said Denney, as he ran to shore and jumped into a rowboat to overtake the swimmer. The girl in the heliopole colored bathing suit noticed that the policeman was in pursuit, and she swam toward Forty-seventh street, out of the range of his jurisdiction, and climbed over the pier and disappeared.

None of the bathers at the beach know who the woman swimmer was, but Policeman Denney said that if she ever attempts to take another dip, he will place her under arrest.

COUNSEL WANTS FACTS SPECIFIED

Case Growing Out of Lawrence Strike Taken Up in Salem Court by Counsel for Etor and Giovannitti.

SALM, Sept. 23.—Preliminary to the trial scheduled for Sept. 30 of Joseph J. Etor and Arturo Giovannitti, charged with being accessories before the fact in the alleged murder of Annie Lopez during a labor demonstration in Lawrence Jan. 29, counsel for defendants appeared in the Superior Court this forenoon and made arguments for bills of particulars to the indictments found against the defendants by the Essex County Grand Jury in May.

Joseph Caruso and Salvatore Scuto are under indictment on the charge of killing Annie Lopez.

In the case of Etor and Giovannitti it is asked that the prosecution specify "when, where and how were committed the act or acts" which, it is alleged, "incited, moved, procured, aided, counseled, hired and commanded Scuto and Caruso to do murder," and as to the nature of the act or acts that might be contended as incentive to the crime.

In the case of Caruso the motion embodied these questions:

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do, either holding or in discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in aiding or assisting said Salvatore Scuto in holding or in discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in holding or discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in aiding or assisting said Salvatore Scuto in holding or discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in holding or discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in aiding or assisting said Salvatore Scuto in holding or discharging said pistol?"

log the said Salvatore Scuto in holding or in discharging said pistol?"

"What act or acts did the said Joseph Caruso do in aiding or assisting any person or persons in holding or in discharging said pistol?"

The court came in at 9:45 a. m., Judge Quinn presiding. Few spectators were present. The attention of the court was occupied with other matters until 11:10 a. m. Then Dist. Atty. Harry C. Attwill submitted papers to Judge Quinn relative to the alleged Lopez murder.

The defendants were represented by the following attorneys: Etor, by John P. S. Mahoney of Lawrence; Giovannitti, by Winfield Scott Peters of Haverhill, and Caruso, by Hon. James H. Sisk of Lynn.

Mr. Sisk, counsel for Caruso, made the opening argument. He called attention to the six indictments against the defendant, and asked the court to have the government define particulars why said indictments were found, as to what acts Caruso did in the alleged murder; also if the indictments were brought under the provisions of the old common law or under the statutes.

Mr. Peters, in his argument, said among other things: "The killing is not the gist of the offense for which the defendants are charged, but the acts of the defendants leading up to the alleged offense. Can these defendants insist on this motion as a matter of right? It not entitled as a matter of right, then should they be allowed discretion of the court." The motion for a bill of particulars is vigorously opposed by Dist. Atty. Attwill.

California Lawyer Present.

John P. S. Mahoney spoke in favor of the motion, and especially in the interests of Etor. George B. Roewer, Jr., of Boston and Fred H. Moore of Los Angeles, Cal., were present as associate counsel for the defendants.

Mr. Peters, in his argument for a clear definition of particulars of the reasons why indictments were brought, called special attention to changed conditions and influences since the acceptance of the old English common law, and of the bad verbiage embodied in the indictment against Etor and Giovannitti, involving them in the alleged killing of Annie Lopez at Lawrence.

"No harm can come," he said, "to the Commonwealth by defining a bill of particulars. Under the American bill of rights, the Government should particularize reasons why the defendants are made to answer to the allegations made by the Government, the real causes for the allegations against them."

Mr. Peters called attention to the need of change in common law pleading in criminal cases, and of the necessity of furnishing a definition of what indictments really mean.

At 12:45 Dist. Atty. Attwill began his argument in behalf of the Government, contending that the indictments were drawn in accordance with decisions of the court in murder cases. "The only question at issue is the involving jointly of several persons in the commission of the alleged crime of a murder," he said.

Indictment Under Common Law.

Mr. Attwill said further that it was immaterial in the coming trial whether Caruso or some one else held the gun that killed Annie Lopez. Mr. Attwill further contended that when an indictment had been brought under the common law the defendant is not entitled to a bill of particulars unless it is the discretion of the court.

Mr. Attwill called attention to the provisions of the statutes which provide for specification of particulars in indictments when not in conformity to constitutional law.

"In the present case, continued Mr. Attwill, 'the motion' is not of conformity to the law, but of discretion of the court in determining what particulars of the indictment shall be defined. If the Government is compelled to define a bill of particulars in the indictment against Caruso, Etor and others, then all the evidence at hand must be made public before trial."

At 1:05 p. m. the court adjourned for an hour.

TRIAL OF WIDE INTEREST.

Prosecution of Etor and Giovannitti Being Closely Watched by Bar and Labor Leaders.

LYNN, Sept. 23.—Essex County has furnished many sensational criminal trials, and prosecuting officers and defending attorneys have made enduring reputations, but the approaching trial of Joseph J. Etor and Arturo Giovannitti, of the Industrial Workers of the World, will probably go into history as among the most important.

Hon. Henry C. Attwill, district attorney, will be the Government prosecutor in these cases. Etor and Giovannitti are charged with being accessories to the murder of a young woman during the strike of the Lawrence mill operatives.

These trials will be of the same interest to the public as those of labor union leaders at Los Angeles and Butte, and the historic courtroom at Salem will probably be the gathering place for many distinguished lawyers and leaders of industrial life.

Those who know Henry Attwill know he is unperturbed by the task before him as prosecuting attorney. "I wanted to proceed with the trial of Etor in June," says Mr. Attwill, "but his counsel desired a postponement, and the date was set for Sept. 30. That is all there is to the delay. There is no bail in this Commonwealth for a person indicted on the charge found against Etor by the Grand Jury, and that is why he is still in confinement."

That is the way Dist. Atty. Attwill disposes of the rumors that he has delayed the trial of the labor leader and is all he will say with reference to the approaching trial.

Though Mr. Attwill has just turned his 40th year, he has been in politics more than half that period. At 24, he was a member of the Legislature. Six years as a Representative and State Senator, with his consequent wide acquaintance and friendship with office holders and politicians, did not deter him when he ferreted out and prosecuted the alleged Lawrence municipal grafters. And neither did he hesitate in securing indictments against several town officials whose acts he believed to be wrong.

Though serving his first term as district attorney he has already had much to do with important cases, among them the trial that resulted in the conviction and electrocution of the two Russian bandits who killed patrolman Carroll and Thomas A. Landrean on June 28, 1910.

He is a native of Lynn, married, and resides on Ocean avenue. Graduating from the English High school, he entered the Boston University Law School and was admitted to the bar shortly before elected to the lower branch of the Legislature.

Mr. Attwill broke all precedents in seeking and securing a third term at the State House. He had been chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary and a leader. Then he decided to go to the Senate and for three years had a seat in that body, where he was again chairman of the Judiciary Committee and Metropolitan Affairs.

Interested in yachting, baseball and football, he had formed the acquaintance of many men about his age and they formed a nucleus around which others gathered, so that politicians who endeavored to defeat Attwill never succeeded.

Leaving the Senate, he was inclined to abandon politics, but W. Scott Peters, then district attorney, appointed him assistant and he served for two terms, being chosen to the position of chief prosecutor two years ago.

THEIR HAT IN THE RING.

Captain Muchmore and Assistant Kill-roe Want a Local Playout.

The Chronicle received a visit on Monday evening from Captain Muchmore, the self constituted guardian of the hand tub Franklin Pierce. The Captain was simply bubbling over with enthusiasm from the fact that he and Assistant Foreman Kilroe of the Gimlet Club had looked the old tub over the previous day and discovered some new merits that had escaped the eyes of other veterans, but could not get by Captain Muchmore's eagle eye. You can say that after the Amesbury muster is over we shall take the old machine out on the Parade and be ready to meet all comers. Just what the fine points in the old machine were, Captain Muchmore refused to divulge, but it is safe to say that the old veteran has got something up his sleeve.

FIVE OVERCOME BY GAS.

Firemen of Portland Department Rescued With Difficulty in Basement of a Restaurant.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 23.—Capt. W. G. Parker, Capt. John B. Black, Lieut. Charles Emery, hosemen Frank Joseph and James H. Markley of the Fire Department were overcome by gas in the basement of the restaurant of John MacDonald, on Exchange street, today, and nearly lost their lives.

A fire near the furnace reached and burned off the lead pipe leading to the meter. The place was flooded with the escaping gas and the men were taken out with great difficulty.

The loss to the restaurant is estimated at $500, and the stock of the Union Furniture Company was badly damaged.

The blotter at the police station on Monday night contained the names of two for drunkenness.

PORTSMOUTH PROOF.

Should Convince Every Herald Reader.

The frank statement of a neighbor telling the merits of a remedy, bids you pause and believe. By some stranger far away Commands no belief at all. Here's a Portsmouth case. A Portsmouth citizen testifies. Road and be convinced. Charles E. Oliver, barber, Collins Court, Portsmouth, N. H., says:

"Standing for hours brought a constant strain on my kidneys and I finally began to have kidney complaint. My back was so lame at times that I could hardly attend to my work, and I was also troubled with headaches and spells of dizziness. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box and began using them, following the directions closely. The pains in my back and other symptoms of kidney complaint soon left and I felt much better in every way. The cure has since proven to be a permanent one and I therefore advise anyone suffering from disordered kidneys to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1912.

The Haverhill Sunday Record pays the following tribute to our city: "Without doubt Portsmouth contains the greatest number of old houses of the Colonial type in this vicinity and one could easily spend many days visiting all the many interesting places of which that city can boast."

The New York World says the analogy between the executive board through which Col. Roosevelt proposes to have the big trusts controlled and the cry of the early McKinley days, "Let the tariff be revised by its friends" is so striking that it is odd it doesn't appeal to those Kansans who anathematize the trusts for three and a half years out of every four and yet themselves hoarse for trust candidates the other six months.

The Manchester Union says: Winston Churchill tells a Boston newspaper man that it is his (Winston's) purpose "to make New Hampshire an ideal state," a thing which he says he believes can be done although he says it will take time and work. We New Hampshire people are fond of New England that ours is already an ideal state; but even if it were not, what assurance is there that the Haggood-Rivley-Brother-John contingent, of New York and Chicago, all of which Colonel Churchill sees (frequently) and a part of which he is, would make it so? When that combination gets Chicago and New York idealized will be time enough for it to invade New Hampshire.

The Boston Herald says small wonder that the practical politicians regard President Taft as a hopeless case. Here he is neglecting the glorious opportunities of a great political campaign and attending strictly to his job, as though he were a mere statesman or servant of the people. Instead of storming over the and vituperative epithets for all who oppose him, and promises of a prompt millennium if he is given another term he is actually waiting his precious time in trying to save the people's money, and to have the business of the government done in a more business-like way.

His inimitable upon a federal budget—a system such as no other great nation in the world is without—is in keeping with his record for government economy, a record to which the country has given small attention and for which it apparently gives him small credit. A closer relation of income to outgo, and definite facts and figures from department heads, instead of hit-or-miss guesses by logging congressional committees, are such a crying need in the government's fiscal administration, that the attitude of President Taft is worthy of all commendation. His efforts, however much they upset the ancient rules and customs of Congress are enthusiastically in the direction of honesty and efficiency in government affairs. Unhappily for President Taft, however, they are not spectacular enough to appeal to the political imagination of the country or to turn the political discussion of 1912 into more sane and reflective channels.

Several prominent business men suggested a conference of the committee and republican business men of the city, and it was voted to hold a general meeting at the court house next Thursday evening, where there will be a general conference of the several republican committees, candidates and republicans throughout the city.

BUBBLE WILL SOON BREAK

Committeeman Esterbrook Estimates That the Third Term Movement Will End By November 1

"During the past week the most interesting development in the campaign," said National Committeeman F. W. Esterbrook upon his return from headquarters in New York, "has been the meeting of the Republican National Committee. Every state nearly was represented. The committee purged itself of the seven Bull Moose whose 'virtue' prevented them from loyalty to their party."

"Three of these men," said Mr. Esterbrook, "had the good sense to resign. Four were expelled by the unanimous vote of the committee, their own action making this course necessary."

"It was a most enthusiastic meeting of the committee. There wasn't a man who had any doubt about the re-election of President Taft. Detailed reports were given from all of the Republican states. We had conceded Arizona to Wilson but the committeemen from that state assured us that the Republicans there were going to carry it for President Taft."

"There is no question about any of the New England states with the possible exception of Maine. There is a chance of carrying that state. It all depends upon how many 'virtuous' Republicans desert their party from their high sense of honor as exemplified in the third-term's candidacy."

"We are absolutely confident of carrying Illinois by 100,000 majority. The situation in Minnesota and North and South Dakota is very much improved and we believe we stand a fair show of carrying all three of these states."

"National Committeeman Chairman Charles D. Hilles has been obliged to you will actually see new hair, fine. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's and a great deal of time in getting and downy at first—yes—but really Danderine from any drug store or about 100 Bull Moose electors off the new hair—growing all over the scalp, toilet counter, and prove to yourself Republican ticket in various states. A little Danderine will immediately—now—that your hair is as it reported at the meeting that he to double the beauty of your hair. No pretty and soft as any—that it has had been successful in all cases—difference how dull, faded, brittle and been neglected or injured by careless care—those of six in Nebraska, six in Kansas, just moisten a cloth with treatment—that's all—you surely can Kansas, and those upon the ticket in Danderine and carefully draw it have beautiful hair and lots of it if California. Since the meeting it has through your hair taking one small you will just try a little Danderine."

fore Nov. 1. Col. Frederick Hale in Maine, who led the Bull Moose pre-convention campaign there, and was largely responsible for the sending of third term delegates to the convention from that state has come out for President Taft. The treasurer and manager of the Bull Moose convention in Chicago, a prominent lawyer there, is another ne who has turned back to the Republican party's nominee. It is reported at headquarters also, that Medill McCormick and the Chicago Tribune are becoming disgruntled at the arbitrary methods of the Bull Moose dictator and are wavering in their support. It is also apparent that some of the third termers financial backers are becoming weary, or at least have developed a little hesitancy in putting up the lav-ah fund demanded by him especially since they have realized he cannot possibly be elected. It is a known fact that workers at Roosevelt headquarters are experiencing difficulty in raising money to defray the expenses of the third term on his present western trip.

"I can only repeat and I do repeat with all the emphasis at my command, what I said last week; that the Bull Moose will not carry a single state with the possible exception of Kansas and California."

"The only contingency upon the horizon at the present time is the possibility that some numbers of Republicans, in their anxiety to defeat the Bull Moose will cast their vote for Wilson. Such action will be as unwise as it is fruitless and dangerous. Roosevelt himself sees that there is no chance of his election. He is willing to smash the foundation of the Republican party with the idea that he may be able to build up one of his own on its ruins."

LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR, NO DANDRUFF.—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Within ten minutes after an application at a time. The effect is amazing. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's and a great deal of time in getting and downy at first—yes—but really Danderine from any drug store or about 100 Bull Moose electors off the new hair—growing all over the scalp, toilet counter, and prove to yourself Republican ticket in various states. PLANS COMPLETE FOR NAVAL REVIEW

President Taft Will View More Than Six Score Ships in Line.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Final plans for the mobilization and review of the Atlantic fleet at New York, Oct. 12-15, are in the hands of Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander of the fleet.

The 127 ships in the line, with a total tonnage of 745,599, will constitute the greatest exhibition of naval strength ever made in American waters. Last year the total of 99 ships included 24 first-class battleships. This year a grand line of 32 battleships will speak more forcibly of American naval prowess. More formidable than last year also will be the array of armored cruisers, and other powerful craft.

Admiral Osterhaus is expected to arrive with 16 battleships on Oct. 6.

The reserve fleet, including 11 more battleships and four armored cruisers, will arrive Oct. 10, and the destroyers the following day.

When the fleet is in readiness for review there will be on board about 1000 commissioned officers, 300 warrant officers, and 27,000 enlisted men.

The spectacular event will be the review by President Taft on Oct. 15. Mr. Taft probably will be joined on the Mayflower by Secretary Meyer and his staff from the navy department. The Mayflower will move up to the head of the column of battleships and drop anchor. The admirals immediately will set out in launches to pay their respects to the command-in-chief of the army and navy, who will receive each with the honor due his rank.

Mr. Taft will then return the visits from admirals, going first to the Wyoming, Admiral Osterhaus' flagship. The Mayflower will fire a presidential salute as the President leaves and when his flag has been hoisted temporarily over the Wyoming, the other vessels will join in a further noisy tribute. As he leaves the Wyoming another salute by the flagship will be followed by the other guns of the fleet.

TEACHER DISPLAYS WONDERFUL HEROISM

Prof. Cowing Carries Sick Companion on His Back and Saves Boy's Life.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Prof. Maine hunter camp. This season Walter S. Cowing of the Friend camp broke the last week in August. School of this city arrived home to find Cowing and Claxton planned to day, bringing with him Charles Claxton, a young man who had been a student of the 17-year-old son of Dr. Claxton of the woods along the St. John's River. Charles Claxton, a well-known physician, was a member of the German-American club of Germantown. It was due to this territory is sparsely inhabited, the heroic work of Prof. Cowing that with only a lumberman's chart to the young man is still alive.

The teacher and a party of German-American hunters and provisions to last a month. Young schoolboys are accustomed to get after they had progressed for five spend their vacation, each year at 2 days they became lost in the wilderness and the rains became continuous.

Claxton became ill. He was threatened with pneumonia. Prof. Cowing had no resource but to try and seek civilization. With his youthful companion on his back, he abandoned the canoe and started for the nearest railroad station that he could find. This was especially difficult, as young Claxton is large for his age, standing 5 feet and 4 inches, and weighing close to 180 pounds.

Nights came and the days passed, and still they trudged on. For 18 days this awful journey progressed without assistance of any kind through the wilderness.

Finally they reached Fort Kent, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, where both fell exhausted. They were taken on the first train to Bangor and put in a hospital. Prof. Cowing quickly recuperated and communicated with Dr. Claxton concerning the condition of his son, and the physician ordered that the boy be brought home. The trip back to Philadelphia was resumed Saturday morning, and they reached here last night.

Dr. Claxton said that with care and nursing his son would soon recover. The physician was gratified at the wonderful heroism of the teacher. Young Claxton lost 30 pounds during his trip.

At Prof. Cowing's home it was said he was confined to his bed and that after a few days' rest it was expected that he would be able to resume his duties.

Before the trip through the wilderness became so perilous many interesting photographs of regions hitherto unexplored along the St. John's River and above Moosehead Lake were taken, and young Claxton clung to them, despite his condition.

A coal shortage is predicted for the coming winter. Better do your coal shopping early.

The new corn cure "GETS-IT" is perfectly harmless to the healthy foot, but it does go for a corn, bunions, callous or wart right off the reel. The corn shrivels away from the healthy flesh and drops off.

You can apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds and it begins its work right off. Pretty soon you'll forget you ever had corns or bunions.

AWAY WITH THE MULBERRY!

Sage of Emporia Savagely Asserts that the Tree Is Not What It Once Was.

There are scores of mulberry trees in Emporia, and through most of the year they do the part of well behaved trees, spreading their grateful shade and adding to the beauty of streets and parkings.

But at this season the mulberry tree is a nuisance, says the Emporia Gazette, for its ripening fruit, no longer esteemed as food for man for the reason that it is alive with bugs, drops on the walks and lawns and draws thousands of flies to feast on the juicy sweetness. The birds enjoy the mulberries, too, and friends of the birds like to see them help themselves, but the fly peril is so much greater than any possible good that can come from the trees that the Gazette would like to see every mulberry tree in Emporia converted into stove wood.

Mulberry trees bordering the sidewalks drop their fruit on to the walks and people must walk through the sticky, juicy mass—it soon becomes a mess—and the popular white shoes of women and girls are stained and soiled. The walks are discolored, too, and more than one scrubbing is required to remove the stain of crushed mulberries.

Whether the bugs that now infest mulberries were in them in the early days when the berries, combined with gooseberries or other acid fruit, furnished much of the "pie timber" and "sauce" for the old sets is not known. But if the bugs were in the berries then, think of the millions of harmless bugs those people in the early days must have consumed.

And the berries were eaten raw as well as cooked, so there is no consolation in thinking that perhaps the bugs were dead before eating. Probably no one eats mulberries now, and while to cut down the trees would in some cases deprive people of shade they could soon be replaced by elms and the fly peril would be done away with so far as the mulberry is concerned.

A dozen or more years ago a campaign against the cottonwood trees was started in Emporia, with the result that dozens of them were cut down and the town was freed of the annoyance from the flying cotton. This matter of the mulberry trees seems even more important.

GRADING THE SINS OF MEN

Women of Paris Submit a Long List Beginning With Egoism as the Root of All.

A Paris newspaper, the Femina, put the following question to its women readers recently: "What do you think—classing them in order of importance—are the ten principal failings of men?"

The majority of the women said egoism was man's most besetting sin. And what is egoism? It is simple and undiluted selfishness; and that is man's chief fault, according to the women. And then these faults come next in the answers—infidelity, jealousy, intemperance, cowardice. That is so—selfishness is the taproot of them all. They are all logically connected.

Following these five leading sins come, in the women's answers, immorality, despotism, temper, stupidity and idleness. It will be interesting to follow these answers in grading the sins and pursuing the gradual descent from egoism to laziness.

It will be found that they preserve a natural order. For instance, infidelity follows egoism; cowardice follows intemperance; despotism follows immorality, and idleness is just behind stupidity. The answers are interesting and just. The women know more about men's failings than men do. They know more than they let on.

Beginning of Big Industry.

The Pietermaritzburg (Natal) Corporation have just embarked on an enterprise which is being watched with interest. The enormous extent of town lands in the Zwartkop direction have been shown to be well adapted for wattle tree growing. The authorities have therefore decided to turn this land to account, for which purpose they have already placed about 1,000 acres under cultivation and from all accounts the young trees are doing splendidly. The wattle tree is principally grown in Natal for its bark, the tannic properties of which are very valuable. Of late years a very big industry has been created in connection with this tree, and if Pietermaritzburg experiment is a success it should result in a considerable reduction of the city rates.

Indelicate.

Washington's cosmopolitan society contains many members whose dolars came too late to supply the advantages of early education. An illustration of this occurred last winter at a dance given by one of the capital's most opulent dowagers. The lady's debutante daughter appeared in the ball room in an ultra décolleté gown.

"Isn't it rather imprudent for you daughter to wear so low a gown on so cold a night?" remarked a "catty" young matron. "She's quite delicate, isn't she?"

"Morey, no!" exclaimed the mother of the fair bud. "She's one of the most indelicate girls you ever saw." "Yes," observed she's dancing the grizzly bear," said the young matron with incisive sweetness.

CONCORD LETTER

CONCORD, Sept. 23.—The past week witnessed a considerable boom in Republican stock in New Hampshire. The state convention on Tuesday was remarkable for its large attendance in these days of no passes and no proxies; for the real harmony and genuine enthusiasm that was in evidence; for its music and thrills; for its excellent and out of the ordinary addresses by Rev. Dr. Chalmers, the president of the day, by Hon. Franklin Worcester, the party candidate for governor, and by Congressman Sullivan; for his strong and sincere platform; and for the excellent choices it made for members of the new state committee and for Taft and Sherman electors, the latter being Orton B. Brown of Berlin, George P. Crafts of Manchester, Roland H. Spaulding of Rochester and Edward M. Watson of Nashua.

The new committee met for organization on Friday and more than 100 members answered the roll-call. Judge Jesse M. Barton of Newport was elected chairman, Philip H. Faulkner of Keene, secretary, and General William F. Thayer of Concord, treasurer. An executive committee for the various counties of the state, except Carroll and Coos, was chosen as follows: Rockingham, Albert S. Wedderell of Exeter; Strafford, Sidney F. Stevens of Somersworth; Belknap, Henry B. Quinby of Lakeport; Merrimack, Frank P. Quimby of Concord; Hillsborough, Frank L. Towns of Manchester and William H. Rutch of Milford; Cheshire, Charles Dale Shedd of Keene; Sullivan, John H. Glynn of Newport; Grafton, George H. Turner of Bethlehem.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee on publicity and to secure such clerical assistance as might be necessary for making the most thorough campaign in the way of literature distribution and personal appeal that New Hampshire has seen in some time. Judge Barton was seen to report, also, that some 40 leaders of the party in this state had volunteered for service on the stump and that they would receive all the assistance needed from the orators on the lists of the national committee.

With the Democratic and Roosevelt party conventions on Tuesday and Thursday this week will be even livelier than last week from the standpoint of politics and thereafter the pace will be fast and furious until election day, which, come to think of it, is not so very far off.

The town of Warner led off on Saturday with a Fanning Republican rally addressed by Ex-Senator Chandler, Ex-Governor Quinby, Senator Halling, Congressman Sullivan, Chairman Barton and others. An old-time campaign marching club is to be formed tomorrow evening in this city, which foreshadows, it is reasonable to suppose, torchlight parades and red fire as in the good old days.

Railroad questions were in evidence at the state house again last week and once more the central figure was Vice President William J. Hobbs of the Boston & Maine, whose principal official duty for the past year has been to come to New Hampshire and tell various tribunals about his road's business. This time it was the state tax commission before which he appeared, that body being engaged in giving hearings before assessing the taxes upon the public service corporations of the state.

Mr. Hobbs told the members of the commission that the allocation of the receipts and expenses of the system in New Hampshire for the past nine months, beginning Oct. 1, 1911, showed net earnings available for dividends of $617,000. The witness further stated that the total net income for the complete year would be in the vicinity of $900,000, which capitalized at 4 per cent would make a gross valuation of approximately $25,000,000, less than half of the gross valuation of $52,000,000, which was decided upon by the commission for last year.

Read Want Ads. on Page 7.

However, in spite of this disappointing showing in regard to earnings, President Hobbs indicated on a visit which he made to New Hampshire last week that he should go ahead with his ambitious plans for the development of that part of his system in this state. Arrangements for financing the great project for the scenic railroad up Mount Washington and the new hotel on its summit were completed at a gathering of representatives of various interests at Bretton Woods last week.

One spot on the system where business was better this year than ever before was Contoosook River Park near this city, to which the Concord street railway carried 3,000 more passengers this summer than in 1911.

The board of referees, Messrs. Chase of Concord, Smith of Woodsville and Riedell of Manchester, appointed by the supreme court to find the fact on the appeals of the Grand Trunk railroad for an abatement of the taxes assessed against the corporation in the years 1909 and 1910 by the board of equalization have filed their report with Clerk Shurtliff of the court, and it will be taken up for confirmation by the court at the October sitting. The conclusions of the board are that the taxes assessed in 1909 should be abated by the sum of $7,386.24, and that the taxes assessed in 1910 should be abated in the sum of $7,173.76. The tax assessed against the road in 1909 was $38,417.72, and in 1910, $37,044. The road has also appealed to the supreme court for an abatement of the taxes assessed against the corporation in 1911, which amounted to $32,359.60.

The dates for recounts of votes cast at the recent primary election have been announced by the secretary of state as follows: Eighteenth senatorial district, Democrat, Sept. 27. Second senatorial district, Republican, Oct. 1. Ninth senatorial district, Republican, Oct. 2. Strafford County, treasurer, Democrat, Oct. 8.

The public service commission has in preparation its second report, which will include this year the returns of the various utilities for the period ended June 30. Blanks for the use of the utilities were prepared by the commission, and instructions have been given as to the manner in which they are to be filled out. Notwithstanding the fact that this is the first year that the operators of such utilities have been called upon to make a report, there are but a few who have not as yet filed their returns.

The fish and game commissioners have practically completed the work of planting the season's crop of fry and fingerlings in the various brooks, ponds and lakes of the state, and are getting the hatcheries in readiness for the propagation of next season's supply. In round numbers the total of fry and fingerlings planted the present season from the Laconia, Colebrook and Conway hatcheries is 2,000,000 and a finer lot of young fish was never put out.

THROWN FROM CARRIAGE.

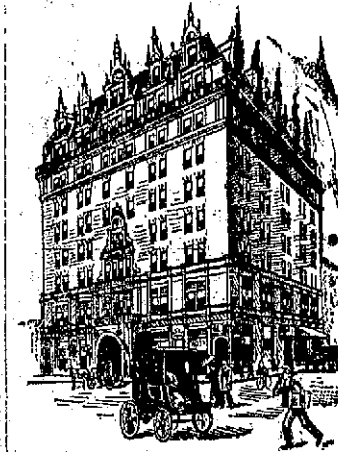

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hill of Newburyport It Is Feared May Be Seriously Hurt.

NEWBURYPORT, Sept. 23.—Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hill of 61 High street were thrown from their carriage this morning on High street and both received injuries which it is feared may be serious.

A pair of horses were attached to the carriage and Dr. Hill was driving, when one of the animals jumped and got his leg over the trace. In trying to free himself he got it stuck in the whiffletree and in this way started the other horse, which swung around quickly and overturned the carriage.

Mrs. Hill received numerous cuts about the face and head, and the carriage struck her as she lay on the ground. Internal injuries are feared, as she felt pains in the back. Dr. Hill complained of internal injuries.

4 MILES FROM CORK

Location of Famous Blarney Stone in Ireland.

It Has Curious History—Some Say Kissing Rock Gives Eloquence—Others Merely the Ability to Bluff.

Dublin.—The story of the Blarney stone is surrounded with a careless vagueness of historical detail characteristic of its comity of origin and quite appropriate to the nature of the yarn itself.

Blarney is a village four miles northwest of Cork, with 800 inhabitants. It is situated on the Blarney river and has some celebrity for its tweeds, but the castle and its stone are, of course, the main glory of the place.

The castle is little more than a square tower 120 feet high, with machicolated battlements, and it was the stronghold of the McCarthys.

The famous stone is of triangular shape, and it lowered from the north angle of the castle, about 20 feet from the top. It bears the following inscription:

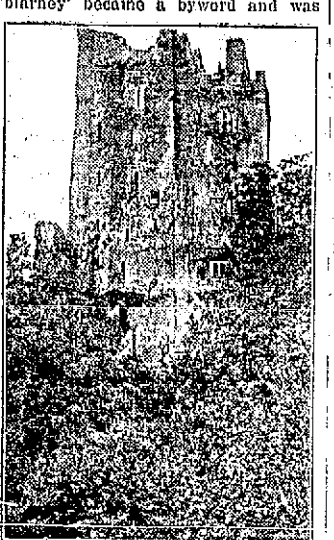

"Cormac McCarthy Fortis Me Plegit Fecit, A. D. 1446."

How the stone acquired its reputation is disputed, but the version given by Wheeler's "Familiar Allusions" holds the field, probably because it is the only connected story offering anything like an explanation.

When or how it first got its singular reputation is not known, but the superstition concerning it is firmly fixed in the minds of the Irish peasantry, hundreds of whom resort to the castle every year for the purpose of kissing a stone endowed with a property so marvelous.

The story runs that in 1602 Cormac McCarthy, the lord of Castle Blarney, concluded an armistice with Carew, the lord resident, on condition of surrendering the fortress to the English garrison, but whenever the fulfillment of his pledges was demanded he invented some smooth and plausible excuse for delay, till Carew became the laughing stock of Elizabeth's ministers.

"Thus," says Wheeler, "the term 'Blarney' became a byword and was used to denote a soft, insinuating and deceitful manner of speech."

It is said that Queen Elizabeth herself was the first to use the phrase "It is all Blarney."

Samuel Lover has written about the Blarney Stone. The best known verse is:

"O say, would you find this same 'Blarney' There's a castle not far from Willarney, On the top of its wall (But take care you don't fall) There's a stone that contains all the Blarney."

Like a magnet its influence such is, That attraction gives all it touches.

"If you kiss it, they say From that blessed day, You may kiss whom you please with your Blarney."

The exact position of the stone is another matter of considerable dispute and the doubt is much too remunerative to be disposed of.

The general supposition is that the stone is the one fixed by ivy to the parapet of the large square tower (which used to be the donjon or keep of the castle) some feet from the top. In order to kiss the stone it is necessary "to lie on your back over the machicolation."

Others maintain that this is not the stone at all, but that the right stone lies loose on the ground. So far there is no record of the Lancet having drawn attention to the danger of promiscuous osculation such as Blarney invites, a curious omission.

WORTHY OF GREAT FATHER

Miss Helen Gladstone a Leader of Her Sex, as William Ewart Was in His Day.

Miss Helen Gladstone, who is the youngest daughter of the famous statesman, has always been recognized by her friends as a decided chip of the old block. She came into the world recently by denouncing one of England's most cherished institutions, the bar, and her words have been quoted from one end of the country to the other.

Miss Gladstone makes her home at Hawarden, but until very lately she has lived at the Woman's University Settlement in Southwark and worked among the poor. She has a keen sense of humor and tells many funny stories of her experiences with the submerged tenth. Once she bought a set of teeth for a poor, toothless old dame and presented them to her. Some time afterward she visited the old lady and asked how she was getting on with her new teeth. "Famously," was the reply. "I'm taking great care of them. When I eat I take them out and wraps them up in cotton wool."

Once Miss Gladstone had an offer of marriage from an old man who was an inmate of a common lodging house. "I shall be only too glad to do it," he said, "provided you can satisfy me that you have sufficient means."

Another joke Miss Gladstone tells upon herself is that in the course of her visit she was asked by a huxon housewife how many children she had. Miss Gladstone replied that she was not married. "Well," was the candid reply, "it is time you were."

As a public speaker Miss Gladstone is the greatest sort of a success and frantic efforts have been made to persuade her to work for the suffrage, but so far they have been unavailing.

OWED SUCCESS TO LAZINESS

And If Truth Were Known, Many Other Patents Have Had Much the Same Origin.

An Indianapolis lawyer who knew the late Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, and formerly of Indianapolis, said the other day that Mr. Johnson really owed his success to "laziness."

"He made his money in the street car business," said this man, who, as a lawyer practicing here while Mr. Johnson was in charge of the local street car company a few years ago, knew him intimately. "His first street car connection was in Louisville, Ky. There he had the job of taking the nickels out of the cars on each trip. The cars had no conductors and the passengers were required to drop their nickels in a box. It was the boy Tom's job to take the nickels out at the end of each run."

"He concluded this was a good deal of trouble, so he invented a car-fare box with sliding trays in it so that the nickels could not be removed when once in and that would also register the number of fares. This made it possible to take the fares up twice a day in place of on every trip, and more important a little later, it gave the young Johnson his start, for he patented the device and made enough money out of the patent to get a start in the street car business. He said he thought of the box because it was so much trouble to walk out into the street and empty the fare box every trip a car made, so his patent was born of 'laziness.'"—Indianapolis Star

Gnat's Bite Causes Loss of Leg.

How dangerous the bite of an ordinary gnat may be under special circumstances even when the best medical assistance is at hand is shown by the case of the wife of one of the leading surgeons of Vienna. This lady was bitten on the ankle while taking tea on the terrace of her suburban villa a few days ago. Inflammation began on the next day, and despite local treatment increased so rapidly that one day later a surgical incision was made. This had to be repeated on the next day under chloroform. General blood poisoning had, however, set in, and a consultation of doctors finally decided that the only chance of saving the lady's life was to amputate the leg above the knee. The operation was performed six days after the bite, but the lady is still in considerable danger. It is supposed that the gnat must have been infected with some putrid matter.

Wedding Party in White.

The rector of St. Peter's in London was surprised the other day when a bride procession presented itself with every member of the party dressed in white. Such a thing had never been seen in London before, and, of course, no Englishman would be the first to depart from the established order of things. The audacious breakers of tradition were Australians, a Miss Sheppard and Mr. Burridge. Most British colonies follow slavishly the customs of the home country. Some of them are more English than the English, if that is possible. But Australia is a long way off, and a generation is growing up there that has not the blind veneration for the customs of England. The comment of the English is that such a costume is extremely suitable in dog days—for Australians.

Corner in Attar of Roses.

As a result of a short crop, restricted harvest through heat and consequent high prices for the flowers, the price of attar of roses is likely to be unusually high this season. Private advices give the Bulgarian crop at 125,000 ounces, against 170,000 ounces last year, but other authorities consider this estimate to be overstated by 100 per cent. At any rate distillers have to pay as much as 6 1/2 cents a pound for the flowers, as compared with 3 1/2 cents a pound last year, and new season's attar is being quoted at $2.90 net an English ounce. It is estimated that 225 pounds of flowers will be required to produce one ounce of attar against the average requirement of 160 pounds. Local attempts to corner the supplies threaten to advance prices still further.

Discovering a Two-Cent Error.

It took the City Comptroller's office five days and necessitated an expense of $30 to find an error of two cents in the city's books, according to Comptroller Kotetki, who charges that the records left by the previous administration were so unsystematically kept that it was necessary to trace the accounts back several months before the source of the error could be discovered. "It took all the time of one clerk for five days and much of the time of another during the same time before we finally discovered the error," said Mr. Kotetki. "This is only one instance of what we meet with continually." Mr. Kotetki said that under the new system devised by Deputy Clerk Puellicher the same error could have been discovered in ten minutes.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Smoking Next to Arson.

An insurance company has sent large display cards to manufacturers and other employers, which bear in bold red letters this warning: "No smoking in this room. Smoking among inflammable materials comes very close to being arson." On the reverse side is printed: "Fires caused by discarded cigar or cigarette stumps probably cost the nation $50,000,000 yearly." In the effort to reduce this source of danger the cards bears the legend: "Besides being a source of fire danger, the habit of smoking in workrooms is a source of inefficiency. Its abolition is a move in the direction of securing greater quantity and better quality of production, as well as in the direction of fire prevention."—New York Tribune.

376 Comets Discovered.

Statistics collected by Borely, the French astronomer, show that since the sixteenth century 376 comets have been discovered, of which 105 were periodic, and 19 have been seen at more than one return, and 56 have been visible to the naked eye, with 7 that could be seen in full daylight. Nearly two-thirds of the discoveries appear to have been made in the morning before sunrise, and more than half in the second half of the year. The French observatories have led in discoveries, 67 of the comets having been first detected at Mersilles and 46 at Paris, but only 16 at Geneva, which has the next highest record, 15 at Florence; and 14 at the Lick observatory.

Sounds So.

"How oddly the man cleaning the machinery talks." "How do you mean?" "I heard him telling his helper to save the waste."

The Idea.

"So you are going to call on the other end of the family to strengthen their nerve." "Yes, so to speak, a week and wait."

TELLS OF GEYSERS

Every Year More Tourists Throng Yellowstone Park.

"Old Faithful" Resembles Symmetrical Cone Containing 250,000 Gallons of Steaming Water 150 Feet High.

Yellowstone Park—Yellowstone National Park every year furnishes a center of interest for increasing numbers of vacationists. The government has taken precautions to preserve this, the greatest of American wonders, for years to come. The acting superintendent of the park is the commanding officer of Fort Yellowstone, a four-company post. Hunting is not permitted in the reserve, but visitors may fish for trout. The government protects the animals in the park and sees to it that the natural formations of stone are not damaged by vandals.

The geysers are principal attractions in Yellowstone. There are thousands of these strange natural phenomena there; some are almost constantly active, while others seem to be extinct. Old Faithful geyser has been thus described:

"In imagination lift in a symmetrical cone 250,000 gallons of scalding, steaming water 150 feet high and hold it there three minutes. Jewel the grand fountain with a million diamonds, filter through it the hues of innumerable dancing rainbows, commingle in confusion every sound of splash and splutter—and you will have a faint idea of Old Faithful in action."

"It is the immutable water clock of the Yellowstone, the most perfect illustration of geyseric phenomena, the most famous and beautiful geyser in the whole world."

"The note of the beginning of the play of the geyser is an angry growl down deep in its throat, whence almost instantly the water, in rapid recurrent leaps, forms the stately fountain that plays for three minutes and then slowly sinks into the earth to await its time to rise again. Sometimes the winds unfold from its top an iridescent banner of spray, but more often the fountain form is a perfect cone."

"Old Faithful plays every seventy minutes, and never disappoints. In the daytime, under the sun, it glitters and glows with prismatic hues; but the most enchanting hour to witness its performance is that when night is falling—when the dusk is around it and the last faint tints of the sun linger in the sky. Then it is a spectacle in ghostly white standing against the sombre background of the wilderness—a slight strange and startling and never to be forgotten."

The visitor to Yellowstone Park will find the animals there of unusual interest. No sound of gun or bark of dog is ever heard and the wild animals have become so tame that they have no fear of the tourist and give only a passing glance at the visitors. Deer, buffalo, elk and bear roam through the Yellowstone. The bears come down from their caves in the evening and feed about the hotels. Excellent hotel accommodations are to be found in the Yellowstone and competent guides are to be hired.

RAISE MANGO IN FLORIDA

Government Experimenters Succeed With Tree Grown to Official by Prince in India.

Washington.—President Taft has been presented with a fine basket of East Indian mangoes raised in the United States. The bureau of plant introduction, which is experimenting with hundreds of foreign fruits in the effort to find new varieties that will grow here, raised the mangoes in Florida. They came from a tree presented to David Fairchild, chief of the bureau of plant introduction, when he was in India some years ago, by one of the princes of that land. Mr. Fairchild says mango growing in the United States can be made a commercial success.

CITY MARSHALL
ENTWISTLE WILL HOLD THE FORTWill Remain in Office as Long as Attacks Are Directed at Him

City Marshal Thomas Entwistle will not resign. Despite all reports to the contrary, Marshal Entwistle said today to a Union representative that he is not ready to divorce himself from the position of administrative head of the police department. "I need the money and I need the position," said the city marshal. He also said that he was aware that a strong effort is being made to oust him.

Has any body asked you to resign, he was asked.

"Yes" was the reply, "Mr. Foye asked me to."

It is said that Col. Morris C. Foye who is chairman of the police commission, advised Marshal Entwistle to resign both because of the alleged handicap of age and of the pregnant relative to his administration of office.

The situation is peculiar because Marshal Entwistle, as a member of the Governor's council, caused Mr. Foye to be appointed to the board to succeed Alfred P. Howard. Mr. Foye is said to be influenced by certain business men. It is known that there has been a secret conference of business men. Reports rampant today were to the effect that as a result of Marshal Entwistle's refusal to resign the houses along Water street would be closed.

Perhaps Marshal Entwistle has no closer friend in Portsmouth than Col. Michael E. Long, formerly a member of the school board and at present a trustee of the Soldiers' Home at Tilton. Mr. Long said today to a Union reporter, that Marshal Entwistle contemplated resignation January 1, but he will remain in office so long as any attacks are directed at him. — Local Correspondent Manchester Union.

STILL LOOKING FOR MANAGER O'NEIL

Some thirty or forty creditors are still looking for the manager of the "Your Theatre." As was announced in the Herald on Thursday the manager disappeared and the employees made an attachment on the equipment the next day. Besides the employees here there are several vaudeville artists that would like to get next to the owners. The equipment is mortgaged and it would seem that the creditors stand a poor show of collecting anything. The place has been hard luck for promoters and it is said that the present people owe about $800.

DEPARTMENT
TWO ALARMS

An alarm of fire at 11.25 o'clock from Box 37 called the fire department to the house on Islington street, occupied by James Morrissey. The fire originated in a closet in the second story and a quantity of clothing was destroyed. The blaze was extinguished with only a slight loss.

IT MADE HIM LAUGH.
Never Saw a Ball Roll Up Hill Before.

One of the bowlers at the new alley on Islington street furnished plenty of amusement for the spectators. He kept up a continual laugh and was heard saying to himself "It's wonderful, simply wonderful."

At last the proprietor took the liberty to ask the man what caused the convulsive expression of mirth and was told by the man with the laugh that he could not understand how the balls roll over the hill at the starting place. "It's wonderful, I have never seen anything roll up hill before."

A PRONOUNCED NUISANCE.

Editor of the Herald: The board of health should take some notice of dumping of all kinds of refuse matter in the vacant lot on Washington street, where a house was recently torn down. The stench from the place at times is unbearable and unless some steps are taken to relieve the condition of affairs, an epidemic of disease will likely result.

THAT BIG MUSHROOM.

Eddie Gifford an employee of the Portsmouth Brewing Co. claims he has them all trapped on picking mushrooms. His last early morning pick included one of the spunky plants which weighs one pound and measures six inches across the top. A few more of this kind and Eddie will have no trouble in preparing a mushroom banquet for his friends.
